Will and trust preparation services

Preparing a will is one of the most important things you can do for your loved ones. But some people don't consult with an attorney because of the cost. And they're not sure how else to handle their estate planning responsibilities.

That's why at UnitedHealthcare, we offer life insurance products with an added benefit: will and trust preparation services. With these services, you can access a wealth of estate planning information online, use financial calculators, download legal forms and use a will-preparation tool that allows you to prepare your own official legal documents.

Program overview.

Our will and trust preparation services, which are provided by Consolidated Legal Concepts, Inc. (CLC), are available to all members covered by our life insurance products at no additional premium cost. Members interested in using assisted document-preparation services may incur a minimal cost.
